PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Roberta Feiten has extensive experience in litigation and consultancy involving product liability, civil liability and consumer law, including class actions, having argued before various State Courts as well as the Superior Court of Justice. In addition, she has a strong presence in administrative litigation related to consumer law, including administrative proceedings and public civil investigation proceedings, and has considerable hands-on experience in dealing with the major agencies of consumer protection, such as PROCONs and the Department of Consumer Protection and Defense (DPDC), in addition to the Public Attorney's Office. She also has experience in product recall, both in advising national and foreign clients and in conducting campaigns before authorities. She works with data protection, focusing on issues related to consumer law. She has been highlighted in several guides such as Chambers & Partners, LACCA and Análise Advocacia.
